A NEWSLETTER PUBLISHED BY HANOVER TOWNSHIP, NORTHAMPTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA

STATE OF THE TOWNSHIP by Stephen R. Salvesen Chairman-Board of Supervisors

We made it to 2002, but our lives have been changed forever by the events of September 11, 2001. The sights and sounds will forever be with us. The American spirit will overcome this event and as we do, will forge a new and stronger America.

As usual, your board has many projects still on the table. Wegmans opened this fall; a much-anticipated event. From the reaction of the community, I believe that we have hit a home run. Much of the landscaping has been installed and we believe that this will be an asset to our community. A medical arts building is in the construction stage for the O&I (Office & Institutional) portion of the tract and we expect occupancy to be completed by early spring. DeLuca Homes has started construction and by mid-summer, should show considerable progress.

We have obtained land from the Koehler's Stables, to widen Stokes Park & Jacksonville Roads. The Koehler home, so long a landmark in our community is gone as is the barn. The Koehler's will be raising a new barn, which should be completed by the start of summer. These road improvements should make rush hour traffic move a little quicker.

REFLECTIONS A STREAM OF CONSCIOUSNESS AND TEARS by John N. Diacogiannis - Supervisor

Writers note: Others will write about the state of the Township. I will write about the state of our collective psyche, from my point of view. However, a few points of interest. The Township is very well indeed from an administrative point of view. An involved effort to codify and update the Township's many ordinances is nearly complete. We will hear more on this later. Taxes remain unchanged. Staff is ever diligent in their work. As a representative member on the Lehigh Valley Planning Commission, I'm please to announce that the Commission has endorsed the Route 22 improvement plan. Yes, there may be more road construction somewhere in the future. More on this at a later date. Instead, I have chosen to write my thoughts as they stream from my mind's reflections on the events of September 11th.

What does that have to do with Hanover Township? A lot! We're but a small community of this nation; this world. However what happened affected so many of us personally, it will inevitably enter into how we live our lives and how we govern our fellow citizens.

Over four months have elapsed; yet it's only like yesterday. It seems like yesterday; yet it's so distant. The cries have nearly been silenced; but our anguish is deafening. We remain composed; still tears flow at the thought or the view. The rubble is disappearing; yet the emptiness is visible.

Curative Ordinance Amendment - Church on the Move • February 19, 2002

On October 4, 2001, the Board of Supervisors heard testimony regarding a Petition for a Curative Ordinance Amendment by the Church on the Move. The Petition alleges that the Township Zoning Ordinance is substantively invalid because it does not allow churches in the R1-S zoning district and is therefore in violation of existing federal law.

In earlier meetings before the Board of Supervisors, representatives of the Church on the Move represented that their facilities would be a 55,000 square foot, two story building on lands located at the northwest corner of Jacksonville & Macada Roads. The plan included a 1500 seat auditorium that could be utilized by outside groups. A continuation of the Public Hearing on the Petition is scheduled at the Hanover Township Municipal Building at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 19, 2002. All interested and concerned citizens are encouraged to attend.

HANOVERVIEW'S 25TH YEAR

This is the 25th year that the Township has published a newsletter keeping the residents & businesses informed of important township news, events, issues, individuals and other information that effects its residents and businesses. Originally called the Newsletter at its inception in 1979 it was renamed hanoverview in 1990 more reflecting its mission: To provide the residents and businesses with an overview of the happenings in the township. In 1990 the editors invited residents to suggest a new title for the newsletter. Marna Hayden, a resident of Park Place Condominiums, submitted the winning entry. For her efforts Marna received a prize of $50. Her submission was one of fifteen submitted to the township.

From its inception in 1979 through 1981 Marge Crandall served as the editor of the newsletter. In 1982 & 1983 Viki Adik was the editor. Marge Capozzolo and Eileen Hayes were the editors from 1983 - 1998. Eileen did take three years off in the early 90's while teaching in Saudi Arabia. In 1998 Mona & Jay Finnigan took over as co-editors with Jay becoming the editor in 2000.

This year the newsletter will undergo two minor changes. Going forward the color of each publication will be indicative of the season: Winter - Blue; Spring - Green; Summer - Red and Fall - Yellow and the banner will be updated.

Over the years the newsletter has tried to keep the residents and businesses informed. We always welcome your input.

Thoughts & Challenge

by John (Jay) J. Finnigan, Jr. - Vice Chairman - Board of Supervisors

My colleagues have updated you with some of the township activities during the past year and expectations for 2002. John Diacogiannis shared with us his reflections on the traffic events of September 11, 2001 that has changed the course of our nation and the world. Even today these events have our armed forces fighting our "new war", terrorism around the world.

Again, I wish to express my thanks for the privilege of representing each of your views on the Board of Supervisors. During 2001 the Board made decisions that were difficult both from a personal viewpoint and in opposition to the feelings and opinions of neighborhoods and individuals. It is my belief, that the board is charged with deciding issues based on their merits and the appropriate statutes that are applicable. At times we are required to dismiss our personal feelings and vote based on the applicable laws.

Recently, while visiting a friend of mine in the hospital, the nurse who was caring for him happened to be a township resident. During the course of our conversation she expressed to me that there "were a lot of things in the township that were wrong." Unfortunately, if the board or the township staff isn't informed of suggestions to improve the township or the concerns a resident may have, we have no way of making Hanover an even better place to live.

Over the next year I invite each of you to attend one of the Board of Supervisors' meetings on the 2nd, 3rd or 4th Tuesday of the month. Unfortunately, the only time we have residents attend is when an issue directly effects them. Just about every agenda item has some effect on each and every township resident. Come out and see how a Second Class Township operates in PA. Why not bring your daughter, son, granddaughter or grandson with you so they can also learn how their township's legislative body operates! If an individual is not introduced to public service in their formative years where will our future leaders come from?

The Jandl Land Company plan is nearing completion, and we fully expect the plan to be before us this spring! Timing on construction is not known at this time, but we will keep you posted on developments.

Big changes at the Community Center. New programs and some new equipment. If you have not checked it out lately, you are missing out on a real treat. We have programs for all ages. Contact our director Cathy Heimsoth for details

We also have two new development prospects; two hotels which would be located on Schoenersville Road. The first is an extended stay hotel located at Schoenersville & Industrial Drive. This hotel will be geared towards extended stay travelers and will not have food service or any of the other amenities normally associated with a hotel. The second will be at the corner of Stoke Park & Schoenersville Roads and if approved, will be a full service hotel. The developer has been talking with major hotel francisors and will have world-class service and be wired for the twenty first century. Construction has begun on phase 2 of the Lehigh Valley Corporate Center with a flex office building started. The Board has approved a WaWa Mega Station at the northeast corner of Stoke Park and Schoenersville Roads.

Lastly, the township will not be raising taxes this year and we fully expect to maintain the high level of service that we all have become so use to. We have re-organized the Special Events Committee that will spearhead formal township events. Interested parties should contact the township for further details.

In closing, I wish to thank the township staff, volunteers, committee members, fire and emergency service people and the host of citizens that help make Hanover Township such a special place to live. Wishing all a prosperous New Year.

These are some of our collective feelings. We will never forget where we were, what we were going, or how we felt on that terrible day. For me, it was the start of a beautiful late summer morning at the Jersey shore. I was barely awake and preparing to go for breakfast. As usual the TV was on; morning show banter - just some background noise. Wait! Katie, or was it Matt, said something about a small airplane and the Twin Towers. My eyes focused on the small screen; the image didn't match their description. What did they know? It seemed like a pretty big fire to me. Couldn't have been a small plane! Hope those people in there got away!

Within minutes, our worst fears were confirmed. We all saw that second plane - in real time. The scenes that came next were truly horrific. I can only imagine what it was like for people within eyesight, let alone directly in the middle of it all. Within hours, the results were quite evident - hundreds of brave firefighters and police dying while performing heroic deeds, all in the line of duty; untold thousands more citizens of the world perishing simply because they were caught in a madman's crosshairs, all while going about their daily lives.

Yet it all seemed so surreal. Could this be a dream? Or rather a nightmare? Would we awaken from this collective mindstate and find ourselves watching a very realistic movie; another Hollywood blockbuster? Sadly, we knew better. We could see it in each other's eyes. Eyes that would feel the wetness of tears time and time again.

Within days, terrible reality was setting in. The constant replays; the relentless newscasts; the many newspaper stories pounded our senses. The phone calls to and from friends and colleagues began to personalize what was up to then a degree of detachment. Some people we had known and worked with were not heard from; they were not at home. Confusing name lists were circulating. For me, five names were recognizable. I knew the names; I knew the people who had those names, some for many years. Yet at that moment, I could not remember their faces. What agony! Was it my brain in denial or my heart trying to block out the reality of it all?

Horror and sadness turned to red-blooded anger. Children of the 60's, of which I am a proud member, who erstwhile "fought" for peace, love and understanding; and extraction from that lousy situation in a far off strange land; were now engaging our brains and our hearts; challenging our basic beliefs. Have we hardened with age? Have we changed or has the world around us changed?

The world is a lot closer to us here in Hanover Township. As a matter of fact, it's only about two hours due east. After all that we were experiencing, there was no question on how we felt, and it had nothing to do with the 60's. That was then and this is now; at least that's what I kept hearing aging "flower kids" telling themselves. We we're attacked! We have ample justification to feel as we do; surely the whole world would agree. "They" killed those brave men and women; "they" snuffed those poor innocent souls;

"they" murdered people that I knew. Those bastards murdered my friends! Find them! Kill them all! So I thought. So did nearly everyone else around.

Our soldiers have now exacted the punishment that we collectively demanded. Mission accomplished? Where's Osama? What about the other "terrorists" in the world? Are we going to take them out? Will we distinguish between "good" terrorists and bad ones? Can we? Should we? Few, if any, "free" nations were born without some degree of "honorable" terrorism. Is there such a thing as an "honorable" terrorist? Where would we be today without them? It's all a matter of perspective. However, these guys do not even deserve to be mentioned in this context.

Are we taking care of the poor, unfortunate Afghans who were swept up in the middle? Are they now free? Can they govern themselves through representative consensus and not brute force? Can they live like us? Should they? Do they want to? It's not that simple; it's not black and white. Only history will tell.

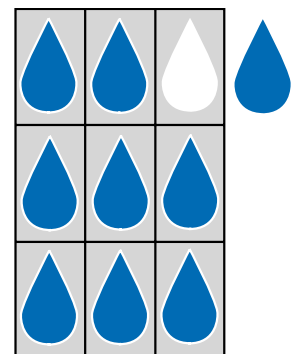

It seems like we're now beginning to feel better. Maybe it's because people don't talk about it much anymore. Wait until all those movie specials come out! Have the Hollywood producers waited a respectable amount of time? Flags also seem to be less evident. My flag still flies proudly - all the time. It was there before the attack and will remain long after memories begin to fade. But symbols are not what are important. I won't forget about what happened; what "they" did to my friends; what "they" did to all of us; what "they" did to my country. None of us can be unaffected. How we view things in our daily lives is different. How we view our neighbors and coworkers is different. Heck, we even like New Yorkers now! There's no doubt that the way individual Township Supervisors view our responsibilities is different. Perhaps not changed in a dramatic way, but sufficient to affect the way we will look at issues. I suspect that it will enhance our perspective on the collective best interests of our fellow citizens. We won't forget.

Hanover Elementary School News

➔ During the third week of October, Hanover School was filled with many parents and relatives who visited during American Education Week. The week ended with "Greatperson's Day" where nearly 300 grandparents and others were treated to interactive visits with their favorite Hanover students. The Book Fair was a great success and was open that day for shopping as well.

➔ Also in October, the entire school collected $1225.29 and donated it to the Red Cross Disaster Fund.

➔ In November, the two 4th grade classes decided to raise money for the children of Afghanistan in a unique way. With the help of the teachers, parents and one grandmother the children baked cookies one Monday afternoon. The rest of the week they sold the cookies during lunchtime to fellow students. They planned to sell the cookies through Friday but the cookies sold out by the middle of Thursday's lunch period. The 4th graders reported that they raised $142.60 for the children of Afghanistan! The 4th grade teachers were very proud of their students and how they all worked together for someone else.

➔ During December, the students and staff at Hanover selected ornaments from the "Giving Tree" which contained names of children and their special gift wishes. The students and staff donated gifts for 225 children to help them enjoy a Merry Christmas.

➔ The senior citizen residents at Country Meadows (near Northampton Community College) were visited in December by the AM and PM Kindergarten and both 3rd grade classes. The children sang some holiday songs and then treated the residents to some punch, cookies and favors. The children paired off with residents to get to know each other. It was hard to tell who enjoyed the visit more - the residents or the students!

➔ Two concerts were held in December. An instrumental concert was held in the middle of December. The second year students of the band and orchestra performed. The vocal concert by 2nd, 3rd and 4th graders was held on the last day before the Christmas vacation. Both concerts were well attended and were a special way to finish the year 2001.

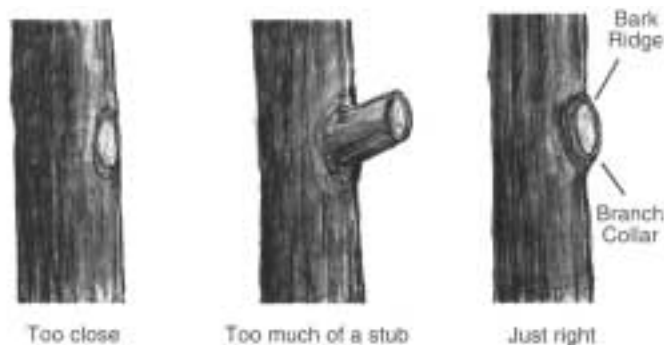

➔ The Spring Book Fair will be held toward the end of April. Please watch the sign in front of the school or posters in front of the school for times when the public is welcome to attend!

➔ Hanover's Spring Festival date has been set for Friday, June 7th. This fundraiser is a wonderful opportunity for an enjoyable time as well as a chance to help support Hanover school.

Shade Tree Commission

TIPS FOR HEALTHY YOUNG TREES

1. Mulch a large area around the trunk 2 - 3 inches deep to conserve moisture during dry spells and to protect the trunk from lawn mower and weed whacker damage (deadly to trees). Do not pile mulch against the trunk.
2. Water your trees during dry spells.
3. Remove stakes and trunk wrap from a new tree after one year.
4. Prune branches that are rubbing or form a tight V with the trunk or another branch. Proper pruning is illustrated below. The cut must be made at the right place on the branch to enable the tree to eventually seal the pruning wound. Tree wound paint is not necessary.

By following these four tips, you can keep your trees beautiful and healthy. Remember, if your tree in the Township right-of-way dies, you must replace it (first get a permit from the office). The office also has a more detailed tree-care booklet available free of charge.

Asa Packer Elementary School News

The students of Asa Packer have been reading, reading, reading! The grand total of books read as of December 31, 2001 was 8,344. A giant jelly bean graph in the main lobby records the monthly totals for all to see. The candy has been provided through the generosity of the Just Born Company of Bethlehem. Students in fourth grade update the numbers provided by each homeroom on a spreadsheet in Math class. APTV, the school's weekly TV show, helps keep everyone informed of the progress being made. Each student is working toward the goal of reading 25 books this school year.

Asa Packer students under the guidance of Linda Kalamar, PTO President, once again participated in the Bethlehem Halloween Parade. Their theme was "Joining Hands Across America." The children dressed in red, white, and blue and represented one of the 50 states or a patriotic hero from our nation's past.

The students used their first place prize money to adopt a family through Northeast Ministries this holiday season. The money provided a tree, gifts and Christmas dinner for a local family in need. We should all be very proud of these children and their dedication to our community.

Hon. Glenn E. Reibman • Northampton County Executive Swearing in Remarks • January 7, 2002

(Following is the remarks offered by County Executive Glenn Reibman during the swearing in ceremony for county officials in Courtroom No. 1, Northampton County Government, Easton, PA.)

“On March 11, 2002, Northampton County will proudly celebrate its 250th Birthday. We are older than the Declaration of Independence, older than the United States Constitution, older than the Bill of Rights, older than the United States of America itself. All Northampton County residents can be proud of our illustrious history.

We have played a key role in the industrial, economic, athletic, academic, judicial and political life of our State, of our Country and even the World ... Turning our products ... and individuals ... who have shaped the history of the last 2-1/2 centuries [iron, steel, slate, cement, textiles ... governors, appellate court justices, state champion, world champions].

But our history has also been one of change. Canals, towpaths, iron furnaces, even entire industries have come and gone from all corners of our county – yet we have not merely survived, we have grown and prospered. We have done so, because people with vision had the courage to look ahead and plan for the future.

Our ongoing 250th Celebration has properly reminded us of our heritage. Yet although we should treasure the past, we cannot line in it. This County has not thrived for 250 years by standing still, longing for the good old days, and turning its back on progress. Rather, we have adapted to new realities, we have embraced change, we have learned from it, we have benefited from it.

That is why as I begin my second term in office I pledge to continue those initiatives which I have already put in place to keep this County on the road of progress: namely; our sorely needed and long neglected construction projects – and our infrastructure investment initiatives which are the key to creating jobs for our citizens, our children, and our children’s children.

I congratulate all those who were sworn in today and invite you to join with me in improving the quality of life for our citizens and the quality of our government. Together we can adapt to new realities, learn from change, and benefit from it.

How can we accomplish this? By continuing to promote community and economic development and environmental responsibility. By upgrading our public safety network. By caring for our seniors, our children, and families.

I am proposing three new community and economic Development initiatives:

- First, I propose we establish a position that will be responsible for overseeing farmland preservation, open space, and environmentally sensitive land issues in Northampton County. Because we cannot continue to build and expand without taking into account the natural resources that contribute mightily to our quality of life.

- Second, I will charge my department of Community and Economic Development with the responsibility of creating an industrial land listing. Potential developers who seek new sites in Northampton County are at times stymied by the unknown political, economic, and cultural constraints. This listing will assist both our municipalities and developers.

- Third, I have instructed my department of Community & Economic Development to search for and implement creative ways to increase home ownership opportunities. For the last decade home ownership in Bethlehem, Easton and our boroughs has steadily declined. During my first term I provided hundreds of thousands of dollars in assistance to our citizens in purchasing homes. Now is the time to take home ownership initiatives to the next level.

Our Quality of Life is also determined by the tireless dedicated work of our Police, Fire and EMS personnel. They deserve the most up-to-date equipment available. It’s the least we can do for the people who protect and serve the citizens of Northampton County. In my first term my administration created a much-needed county run 911 service, while lowering taxes.

- Now, I propose that Northampton County establish a funding mechanism that will lead to our public safety agencies receiving 500-megahertz radios.

The social service needs of our citizens will also be addressed in my next term. The needs of the seniors, children and families will be focused on since these are the vulnerable citizens’ county government must care for and protect.

We currently have 12 Senior Centers in Northampton County. A new center will be established in Wilson Borough in the coming months. These centers provide meals and a place to seniors to socialize.

- Northampton County will now also provide health promotion services at no cost to our seniors. Seniors will be able to discuss common health concerns with qualified health professionals.

- I have instructed the Director of Human Services to investigate ways to provide affordable assisted living to our seniors who desperately need but cannot afford this service.

The goal of these proposals is to enable seniors to live in safety with dignity and independence.

- For the children, I propose we expand our network of family centers into the western end of the county. Our family centers, a joint venture between Northampton County, The United Way and local school districts deal with cases where there is overlap between county and educational issues. They successfully bring together families in a non-threatening, positive environment

In recent years there has been the recognition of an increase in the number of children afflicted with mental health problems. Advances in psychological counseling and diagnosis now allow us to see these problems much earlier than before.

PUBLIC SAFETY

by Dr. Frank T. Colon - Supervisor

The Colonial Regional Police Department is entering its seventh year of service with a 2002 budget of $1,610,630. Hanover Township is responsible for 51%, Lower Nazareth Township 33% and the Borough of Bath 15%. The Borough of Chapman contracts for services at a flat negotiated amount. The Police Commission decided to increase the number of patrolman from 20 to 21, created a staff position of lieutenant and reduced civilian employees from 3 to 2. Sergeant James DePalma was promoted to the newly created lieutenant position. John Harmon was subsequently promoted to sergeant. The Commission conducted a police recruitment test to replace Officer Brian Rimple, who left the force to be a part of the Lehigh County Drug Task Force. 175 applicants signed up for the test. The list of successful applicants will be in effect for two years. On December 31, 2002 Chief Spang will retire. Anticipating a growing department, Sergeant Roy Seiple attended the FBI Academy two years ago and Lieutenant James DePalma will attend the same academy in April of 2002. In addition, Sergeant Mike Melinsky will be graduating from the Northwestern University School of Police Staff and Command conducted at the Philadelphia Police College on March 31, 2002.

One of the highlights of police enforcement by the Colonial Regional Police was the capture and arrest of Robert Durst for shoplifting at Wegmans Food Market by Officer Benner. Mr. Durst was observed by Wegmans' security removing merchandise from their store without paying for it. As the arrest turned out, Durst was wanted for a homicide in Texas and other crimes New York and California. He has been identified by John as one of America's most wanted criminals.

Officer Kovach will be the police representative for the DARE Program and the police liaison for Hanover's Crime Watch program. The Crime Watch sponsored an evening seminar on drug education for parents by undercover drug enforcement officers and District Justice Barbara Schlegel. The Crime Watch is headed by former Supervisor Joan Rosenthal, who is always looking for volunteers and would appreciate hearing from interested parties.

The Fire Company just took possession of a new pumper at a cost of $325,840. John Ralston was recently elected Chief and is looking for volunteers. Karen VanWhy heads the Ambulance Corp and is also searching for volunteers. TEAM operates as the paid daytime rescue squad and covers Hanover, East Allen and Lower Nazareth Townships and recently, the Borough of Bath.

REIBMAN continued

- I propose that we develop within the community a comprehensive county-wide plan to improve services for children with mental health issue – ensuring these children receive the necessary care they deserve.

- Drug abuse is a problem that not only affects the individual, but the community at large as well. Families are split apart. Lives are destroyed. Our prisons are overcrowded primarily because of drug-related offenses.

We can save prison space for more serious offenders, preserve families and save taxpayer money by developing a plan to provide for better drug user interventions.

These are but a handful of the ways to maintain and improve our quality of life. Let us consider them and all others as we go about the people's business together for the next four years.

Fifty years from now, at Northampton County's 300th Birthday Celebration, let our children and their families look back and say we provided light; let them say we provided vision and that we invested in our future. Let them say that together we added to our county's proud history."

TOWNSHIP'S COMMUNITY CENTER FORMS BUSINESS LINKS

by Cathy Heimsoth

(The following article appeared in the Eastern Pennsylvania Business Journal © — November 5-11, 2001 edition)

"Sketch by Bernie Indelicato, township resident"

Pick up any newspaper in the Lehigh Valley today and you can find varying opinion regarding the need for Community Centers. Numerous communities are in the planning stages and look to the success of already established centers in the valley. One center in particular has stood out as a showcase for other Townships to follow. Hanover Township Community Center is celebrating five years of serving the community. This township community center sits in the middle of a municipal tract; surrounded by outside basketball courts, playscapes, swings, outdoor swimming pool and tennis courts. The 27,000 square foot building hosts a full size gymnasium with basketball courts, retractable bleachers, locker rooms complete with showers, a fitness room with cardiovascular equipment, free weights, circuit training equipment, game room, 2,200 square foot meeting room and adjoining kitchen and activities rooms. What made the past year exciting for Hanover Township Community Center are the recent relationships that have been developed. As a true community center the focus on programming is very diverse. The goals are clearly defined and reflected through the mission statement of Hanover Township Community Center. "To offer individuals and families the opportunity to participate in innovative and comprehensive programming designed to enrich social and physical growth while enhancing community well being." Two goals that directly affect one another and make Hanover Community Center unique are; first and foremost HTCC has been established to meet the needs of the community. The friends and neighbors of the community center directly contribute to programming through their involvement in the community. One such example would be the educational and wellness programs in collaboration with the Alzheimer's Association and St. Luke's Hospital of Bethlehem. Through the efforts of one member, a resident of Hanover Township, a relationship was born that led to the first Lehigh Valley Public Policy Forum on Alzheimer's Disease. This event included 12 State legislators and federal political figures learning about the importance of early diagnosis, the effects on caregivers and ultimately the cost to businesses. As a result of this event HTCC has directly affected local, state and national policy makers. Those same people who shape the landscape for businesses and families in the Lehigh Valley. One huge misconception is that community centers are just fitness facilities or public business being run by a government entity; this is the furthest thing from the truth. Fitness is just one small part of the puzzle. As HTCC continues to identify and establish new programming they reach every age group and personality. Community Centers provide the platform for residents to share, educate and grow together. Second, in an effort to develop positive relationships within the community HTCC creates a backdrop for local businesses to give back to their community. A healthy conversation between business and residents is born. One such relationship is with Country Meadows of Bethlehem. Through a financial commitment from Country Meadows, HTCC has established quarterly socials for friends and neighbors over fifty years of age. These socials are free and open to members and non-members. A "Ready to Read" party also was hosted by HTCC with the help of local businesses and PBS; these are just a few of the community programs born from business and community center collaborations. Businesses can be creative in their generosity making in-kind donations, sponsoring with financial contributions, or providing time or talent through individuals. The end result is a stronger community; a community made up of healthy educated consumers. These new consumers are ready to support the businesses that directly contribute to their quality of life. In recent months our country has found new meaning in family. Where better to start than in your own back yard. Everyone, businesses and residents alike should embrace community centers.

Impressions

by State Senator
Charles W. Dent
16th Senatorial District

As the national economic slump continues, everyone is looking for ways to save money. Even so, many retailers are offering special deals to entice shoppers. And, that's not necessarily a bad thing. Prudent spending and wise investing will help families and help our economy recover. In fact, in a few weeks, Pennsylvania will give residents a chance to do just that. Between February 17th and 24th, Pennsylvania residents will have a chance to meet both those goals when the state launches another "Tax-Free PC" week. All personal, non-business computer purchases during that week will not be subject to state sales tax. In fact, this year the sales tax holiday is designated as a "PC Plus" week, meaning many computer accessories, such as printers, scanners, CD-ROMs and Internet-access devices, will be tax exempt, too. Exempting computer equipment from the state's 6 percent sales tax can mean big savings for those who take advantage of the holiday. In previous Tax-Free PC weeks, consumers saved an average of more than $100 – a sizeable amount of money. Tax-Free PC purchases must be for home, non-business use and can be made from any retail outlet in Pennsylvania. Shoppers can also purchase computer products through the mail or over the Internet and pay no sales tax. During sales tax holidays, shipping and handling fees also are tax-free

The first two sales tax holidays were tremendous successes, and some retailers actually sold out of computers. This year should prove no different. Therefore, I encourage shoppers to research which products they want and shop early.

Computers can be a tremendous boon to older individuals, especially those who are homebound. E-mail provides a relatively inexpensive way to keep in touch with friends and relatives, and the Internet is a wonderful resource for information, shopping – and learning more about state benefits and services through Pennsylvania's highly informative and comprehensive government website.

The Tax-Free PC Plus week is a good opportunity to purchase products that can open up all of these doors. If you already have a computer system and are simply looking to upgrade, more information on accessories that are non-taxable during the holiday is available at www.state.pa.us or directly at www.tax.freepc.state.pa.us.

2002 Public Works Projects

by Glenn R. Walbert - Supervisor

Two major projects impacting Hanover Township were completed this past year. They include the rebuilding of Schoenersville Road and also improvements on S.R. 0512 and Stoke Park Road as part of the Wegmans project.

One project that was not completed, however, was the intersection of Stoke Park and Jacksonville Roads. It was anticipated that this intersection would have been completely rebuilt in 2001 with turning lanes and signalization. This project was to have been a shared project between the Township and Manor Care who was to build an assisted living facility at the southeast corner of this intersection. That project was cancelled as well as their part of the improvements. The Township did proceed and completed its share of the project. Although this did improve visibility, it did not solve the backup during the peak periods. A new project called Hanover Glen consisting of 50 upscale condominium units is now proposed for this track of land. Another development at the southwest corner of this intersection is also in the planning stages. This development consisting of single-family homes will be called Hanover Ridge. Both developers have expressed a willingness to make improvements to their respective frontages along Jacksonville and Stoke Park Roads as well as the remaining improvements at the intersection itself a priority when construction begins. Hopefully these improvements will be completed in 2002.

A major project that will be not very obvious to township residents is the installation of storm sewers by the Aspen Inn. This $1.7M project is needed to alleviate flooding in this area during severe rainstorms. Most of us are aware of the major drainage swale that begins at Hanoverville Road and heads south crossing under Crawford Drive, Stoke Park Road, and Rte 22. However, when this swale reaches the Aspen Inn, there isn't enough capacity to take the water either underground or through surface swales to the Monacacy Creek. This causes severe flooding on S.R. 0512 as well as the Aspen Inn at times. With additional development taking place in the township, the flow of water through this channel will become even greater. This project will alleviate this unsafe condition.

As in previous years, the township will continue its maintenance program of either repaving or microsurfacing existing roads.

Scheduled for repaving are Stoke Park road in the vicinity of Faulkner Chevrolet and Gasper Avenue.

Scheduled for microsurfacing are Bates Avenue, Comfort Circle, Grace Avenue, Hale Avenue, Jaclyn Lane, Post Drive, Southland Drive and Steuben Road.
